Art by

Hans Skálagarð

Hans Skálagarð (1924–2017) was a master maritime artist whose life and work were inseparable from the sea. Born in the Faroe Islands, he went to sea as a teenager on a four-masted square-rigged ship, shaping his art and destiny. This stamp honors his legacy and the enduring spirit of the mariners and ships he captured on canvas.

Jean-Baptiste Charcot:

Voyages to the Faroes

Jean-Baptiste Charcot was a renowned polar explorer, and on his voyages he regularly visited the Faroe Islands with his ship Pourquoi-Pas?. He first visited the Faroe Islands in 1901 and published a book about his travels there in 1934.

Ninety years ago, his ship was lost off Iceland, where all the crew perished except for one sailor.

Charcot lived to be only 69 years old.
